

PRESS RELEASE

Jan Schöpflin (Eckert & Ziegler) Elected as New Co-Chair of the Nuclear Medicine Europe Communications Working Group

Brussels, Belgium – 22 July 2024

Nuclear Medicine Europe is pleased to announce the election of Jan Schöpflin as the new Co-Chair of the Communications Working Group. The members of the working group recently cast their votes, resulting in Jan's appointment.

Jan, who has been an active member of the Communications Working Group for several years, will now join Pascal Daniel, the current Co-Chair, in leading the group's ongoing initiatives. Their collaborative efforts will continue to drive the success of several key projects currently underway.

Following his nomination as Co-Chair of the Working Group, Jan said : “I firmly believe in the power of collaboration and exchange that Nuclear Medicine Europe uses to contribute to the success of the entire Nuclear Medicine specialty. Taking over my new role in the Communications Working Group, I want to further encourage the joint development of ideas and sharing of experiences to advance our exciting field.”

“With his many years of experience as Head of Marketing for the Medical Division at Eckert & Ziegler, Jan has excellent qualifications for this new role”, comments Lutz Helmke, Executive Vice President at Eckert & Ziegler and Vice President at Nuclear Medicine Europe.

Senior Communications Advisor David Crunelle, who has been serving as Co-Chair ad interim for the past few months, will step down from this role but will remain an active member of the group. David will continue to support the co-chairs and contribute to the ongoing communications projects.

The Communications Working Group is highly active, with several significant projects scheduled for the remainder of the current mandate. The group is excited about the future and looks forward to sharing more information with the entire nuclear medicine community and all members of the association.

For more information, please contact david.crunelle@nmeu.org